

Eradication of Poverty in Our South African Society

#“Poverty is parent to two possible outcomes, criminals/criminality or revolutionaries”

- South Africans let us not allow ourselves to be a nation of handouts. We are better than that
- We have been held at ransom for a long time by politicians and foreign corporates.
 - Politicians through handouts such making us dependent on social grants so we can continuously vote for them
 - Politicians not creating a conducive environment necessary to create a future for us, our children and generations to come by:
 - Sustaining inferior education system and curriculum that does not promote critical thinking, acquisition of globally competitive knowledge and skills making us dependent on other countries for such
 - Being self-serving public representatives rather than being concerned for the future of our society
 - Not promoting and advocating for development of South African based and owned mega industries and businesses thus us being dependent on foreign companies. What will happen to this country the day foreign companies including mining companies have taken all they wanted from what we have. What will happen to future generations?
- We have extremely high levels of unemployment and poverty
- We have extremely high youth unemployment. What is to be the future of this country without the youth?
- Our people who use to leave through sustainable and functioning subsistence farming no longer do that because politicians have made them depended on social grants so they can control them and have their votes.
- Our children and communities have resorted to drugs and crime because as the saying goes “an idle mind is the devil’s playground”

Let us have critical conversations and engagements on the matters mentioned above in all our communities and put our future in our own hands by chatting the way forward in addressing how to deal with matters mentioned above. Let us create awareness and have critical engagements necessary for groundswell on matters raised up. Let us use all platforms of engagements at our disposal including social media and community engagements to awaken the society. Let us for a change realise that vanity, pursuit and the insatiable appetite for pleasures robs us of the future that we and future generations deserve.

“we shall not be victims of circumstances”

“We will take back our power to determine our own future”

“we are not incapable but capable”

“We will be our brother’s and sister’s keepers”
